

Architecture Article

Curry Stone Design Prize Festival at Harvard Tonight

Nov 7, 2011

Posted by admin in Sustainable Architecture

The Curry Stone Design Prize honors Social Design Pioneers. With a $100,000 “no strings attached” purse, it is the Pritzker Prize that gives a damn. In October they announces the 2011 Curry Stone Design Prize Winners and tonight will will be an awards ceremony at the Harvard Graduate School of Design to present to all winners. If you can’t make it you can watch the livestream here.

In addition, the Curry Stone Design Prize will premiere a micro-documentary on each of the winners today at the ceremony, here is your sneak peak.

Hsieh Ying-Chun, Grand Prize Winner

Atelier d’Architecture Autogérée, Winner

<http://architecture-article.com/2011/11/curry-stone-design-prize-festival-at-harvard-tonight/sustainable-architecture/>