Handmade mud school in Bangladesh

POSTED BY CORY DOCTOROW, SEPTEMBER 21, 2009 6:46 AM | PERMALINK

Hugh sez, "This school in Bangladesh has tunnels for reading and playing and sunny, colorful porches. They can be built by hand by the people of the village (including the kids who will attend). The young designer, Anna Heringer, is a finalist for the Curry Stone Design Prize, given to individuals or groups for design solutions that addresses social justice."
